

Memo

To: Com 221 Students

From: Lynn Koller

Date: January 10, 2012

Re: Module 5 - Blog

Based on your readings and discussion about the proposal presentation, post a new thread that includes the following:

1. Your research question (as a reminder to your group members) - Repeating this question in various assignments will help you stay focused. At this point, it may still change somewhat.
2. One of your entries from the annotated bibliography with a full citation and summary - This will get you started with research and allow your group members to make suggestions.
3. One link to an online presentation that you find instructive, impressive, or otherwise useful for the upcoming assignment with a one sentence (or more description of what/why you picked it - Seeing excellent models of presentations will help you and your group members create your own excellent presentations.
4. Review and respond to your group members' posts - Providing feedback is useful to both you and your group members.